Social and Personal.

A VERY beautiful wedding took place in Grace Episcopal Church at 7 o'clock on Wednesday evening, October 6, when Miss Alice Urquhart Adkins, daughter of the late J. W. Adkins, of Sussex, was given in marriage to Alexander Trent Gray, of this city. The church was artistically decorated with palms and ferns, and ceremony. Mr. Powers presided at the organ, and rendered Schubert's "Sere-

Song" during the ceremony,
The two maids of honor, Miss Hattle
Wherry Gray and Miss Mary Edmunds
Adkins, sisters of the bride and groom wore dainty lingerie princess frocks with plink sashes, and carried bunches with plink sashes, and carried bunches of pink chrysanthenums tied with tulle. The ribbons were held by little Misses Julia Randolph Guilbert and Martha Davis, niece and cousin of the groom. They were lingeric gresses over pink silk.

Little Miss Florine Guilbert, also in lingeric freeks over pink silk, carried the ring in a pink chrysanthenum. George Gilmer Minor, Jr., aftended the groom ag his best man, and the ushers included Thomas M. Adkins, of Sufolk;

More Money Is Needed for Home for Needy Confederate Women.

LEXINGTON, VA., October 7.-To-Virginia Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, were occupied with reports of officers and chapters. reports were encouraging and indicate reports of officers and chapters. The reports were encouraging and indicats the work being done by the Confederate women for the Confederate cause. Nearly all the chapters represented told of helpful ministration to the unfortunate Confederate soldiers, whose loyal and loving service in the civil strife has endeared them to all time, and to the enfeebled wife of the martyr hero and to his unfortunats daughters. The reports told of monuments erected in loving remembrance of crosses of honor awarded and of other and numerous benefactions.

Mrs. A. J. Montague, of Richmond, acting president of the Home for Needy Confederate Women, located ir Richmond, addressed the Daughters today in behalf of that worthy institution. She asked for a larger endowment in order to accomplish the purposes for which the home was estabilished. Mrs. Montague hopes to be able to increase the endowment if $100,000. Twenty-seven needy womenare new being cared for in the home. The matter of financial help for the home will be considered to-morrow Miss Mary Lee, who is now abroad, is president of the home.

The program for the night session was of a literary character, consisting of reminiscences, essays and Confederate war songs.
